

Strategic Energy Management

DISCOVER

Uncover where opportunities lie.

As you begin to fully understand your comprehensive energy usage, the natural next question is, "Now what?" Our strategic energy management (SEM) consultants work with you to take inventory of your facility's energy use and discover your least efficient energy sources. Together, we'll determine where you can make the most significant operational improvements for noticeable change, both to the environment and your bottom line.

Let's identify your focus areas.

No matter what size facility or organization you are, understanding where to start fine-tuning your energy use can seem overwhelming. Let our team share our decades of experience as you make a plan for what's next.

1 Analyze

Review all energy use data collected to make sure you have an accurate and comprehensive measurement of your annual usage. For larger facilities, our team delivers technical in-person assessments that are specialized to provide solutions to complex or unique energy challenges.

2 Identify

Evaluate and review all energy sources in our unified platform, CLEAResult ATLAS™, to identify usage trends and understand the next steps that will be needed in order to reduce your overall energy usage.

3 Prioritize

Collaborate with our team of experts to establish a list of priority projects, including meeting state or federal regulatory compliance, based on the data collected and analyzed. We'll also advise on how to reduce your annual energy usage while keeping your energy efficiency goals and budget aligned.
